The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

It is up to Mr. Cannon to glide gracefully out.

Barre will have a little get-together time to-night.

Weston wouldn't be "put off" at Buffalo, but came right along.

Mr. Havens now joins Mr. Fox as a man who headed the Republican flood in his den.

Chorus of foreign fortune-hunters when Marjorie Gould was married—"Folled." Good!

They knew it was Patriots' day in Boston yesterday, because the day was given up to sports; a sure sign it is nowadays.

Workmen digging the cellar for Burlington's new hotel have run across many quarters and half-dollars. Thus the "stripping" has begun ere the hotel is started.

Reporters are getting into a sad groove when all they can ask Bryan is: "Will you run again?" Why don't they ask him how he likes the new shade of red in the ladies' hats?

By the withdrawal of Aldrich and Hale the United States Senate will lose two of its most powerful members, whose places will be hard to fill with men of equal mental caliber.

The Morrisville News and Citizen is convinced that a "slow campaign" indicates that the voters are thinking about the issues. Rather, it seems to us, they are not thinking about them at all, the more the pity.

If the census could have been taken six months later, with the new granite contracts in full swing, Concord's totals would have looked better.—Concord Monitor.

Then it would have been a clear case of inflation, with the same old Concord when the wind was blown out. There is a small army of granite cutters in the building trade, which is floating from place to place with the contracts—in Concord to-day, in Hardwick to-morrow and in California next. It's too bad for Concord, though.

THE ALDRIDGE DEFEAT.

Two causes entered into the defeat of George W. Aldridge, Republican, for Congress in the strongly Republican Rochester, N. Y., district: the opposition to political bosses and the boss system and the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. This district, which in the last congressional election gave the Republican candidate a plurality of 10,000, yesterday elected a Democrat to fill out the unexpired term by a plurality of 6,000 votes. The district is made up of Rochester, a large manufacturing center, and a rich farming community around it. Mr. Havens, the winner in his campaign, strongly advocated a reduction of tariff duties, especially on wool and lumber, and he had the support in this of both the clothing manufacturers and the labor unions of Rochester. Mr. Aldridge stood by the Payne-Aldrich law. On the other side, Mr. Aldridge was opposed by the minority, because of his alleged acceptance of a bribe of $1,000. Probably one issue had as much to do with his defeat as the other. The lesson to be derived seems to be that the congressional campaign committee at Washington, which proposes to appeal to the country this fall to support the Cannon-Aldrich factions in Congress and to swat the insurgents, is likely to see the process reversed.

TEACHING AGRICULTURE ON THE MOVE.

The Rutland railroad is being commended for making possible the "better farming trains" on the west side of the state. The Central Vermont is equally capable of securing undying gratitude on the east side of the state. We want to be shown just as much as the fellows on the other side of the mountain. So, Central Vermont, why not co-operate with the state of Vermont and the state agricultural college? The benefits derived from the other trip are said to have been considerable. The St. Albans Messenger, for instance, declares: "But one visit to the train, one glance at its exhibits, one opportunity to hear the rapid fire ten-minute lectures on important farming topics by acknowledged experts in various lines, one opportunity to hear these experts answer questions brought to them by visitors seeking information about their own individual farm problems, and one opportunity to see the throngs of men and women of unmistakably high grade intelligence and ambitious purpose that assembled at the points visited by the special—would be enough to convince most doubters that it is one of the best devices for encouraging and assisting the great latter-day better farming propaganda." Surely, then, there is as much possibility on the other section of the state, where the Central Vermont railroad runs from the Winooski valley to the southern and eastern extremities of the state.

PURPOSE OF "TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY."

The very general response which the clergy of Barre gave to the invitation to set aside the coming Sunday as "Tuberculosis Sunday," in common with churches throughout the country, indicates the importance which is attached to the movement to check the spread of tuberculosis. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis is back of this somewhat novel plan, and its invitation to the churches is country-wide, made either through boards of health, as in Barre, or through labor organizations. In order that the appeal might become more convincing. The particular theme which has been presented for the ministers to talk on is "No Unchecked Tuberculosis in 1915"; and the purpose is to bring before the public the necessity for steps to attain that goal. It is not to be expected that the clergymen will present a scientific dissertation on the causes underlying the spread of the disease, or that they will furnish us with the remedy which will kill or check the disease. What is expected is that they will, in a measure, arouse public interest in a work which is apt to lag unless a constant prodding is kept up. The pulpit can be a very valuable ally in this work for the good of humanity, and the general enlistment of its services is satisfactory to the national association which extended the invitation.

So, next Sunday, in Barre churches as well as elsewhere, there should be an evidence of popular appreciation of the work by increased attendance at the services. In Barre, where there ought to be a vigorous fight waged against tuberculosis all the time, there should be particular interest in the movement undertaken through the pulpit.

Current Comment

Better Than "Murder in Third Degree."
The jury in Chittenden county found the chauffeur who run down and killed a man in Burlington guilty to "assault and battery." This is an improvement on the verdict in Rutland county of "murder in the third degree."—Vergennes Enterprise and Vermonter.

Shall We Send Unpledged Delegates?

There is beginning to be more or less talk about the advisability of sending unpledged delegates to the Republican state convention and we believe it is a move in the right direction. There is no question about there being much dissatisfaction with the gubernatorial situation as it is at present. The Rutland Herald says: "If nothing better appears than is now offered, let the voters take the matter into their own hands, choose men not committed to anyone and let them act independently at the convention. It would be a healthful movement and worth while." And the following is from the Brattleboro Phoenix: "The gubernatorial campaign is likely to shape itself so that the Republican convention will give the nomination to some good man not now considered as a candidate."—Lyndonville Union-Journal.

How About the Platform?

Very little is being said about the gubernatorial situation and it seems, also, that the Board of Health has lost some of its activity, anyway, we are missing the frequent communications from this source that were for a while in the habit of frequently arriving. Fleetwood expresses himself as well pleased with the progress his canvass is making. At Peru, during the past week, there appears to have been a period of rest. Perhaps the sage of that retreat thinks that the new famous letter he brought forth from Rutland was doing his big share in stirring up a little live interest in the campaign. But the platform—once in a while we hear a whisper about it.—Lyndonville Union-Journal.

Liquor Licenses.

The cutting down of the number of liquor licenses below the legal number permitted by law is an idea that meets favor among men of a wide range of opinions on the liquor business. From the view that one hears expressed, both from those for and those against license, it would seem highly probable that a large majority of our citizens would favor such a policy.

The board of selectmen that shall reduce the number of licenses issued in this town might at first thought seem to have taken a hazardous step politically. But there would be few to find fault outside of a very small group having a personal interest in the matter, and the board by such action would have won the warm approval of a host of citizens who look at the matter in an impersonal way.

There can be no question that the evils of the liquor business could be materially reduced by granting licenses only to the places best suited to handle the business and to the men most likely to use their permits judiciously, and cutting out the applications that are the more unsuitable either from location, previous record of the applicants, or other considerations.—Greenfield, Mass. Gazette.

Doing Good for Ludlow.

The Okeana Literary club—a well established Ludlow organization—is certainly to be congratulated on the success of its season just closed, a brief review of which will be of interest. The club has held twelve meetings since November, last. Five of these meetings have been thrown open to the public, and have included two special musical performances, an address by President Theodore Roosevelt, and illustrated lectures by State Forester Hawes and Hon. George Allen. The meetings held at the homes have been rich with literary and musical features furnished by members of the club and other local talent, assisted by Dr. Stickney of Rutland, Chaplain Ford of Windham, and Rev. P. T. Clarke of Freetownville. A gratifying fact in connection with the season's work is that there was not a single break in the schedule arranged by the program committee. The members of which are entitled to much credit for the energy they put into the campaign. Such a club is worth a great deal to any community, from an educational standpoint, and the response by Ludlow people to the club's occasional invitations indicates appreciation of what that organization is trying to do for the town.—Ludlow Tribune.

Jingles and Jests

The Simple Life Again.

I wish I were a turtle.
To sit and snore all day,
Far from the madding hurly
Of life's distracting fray.
A house provided for me,
With never a thought of rent,
And no accounts to bore me,
When I have not a cent.

A house devoid of plumbing,
Just big enough for me,
With no landlords a-come,
To get their $24.
No thought of pump that's showy,
No gingerbreaded porch,
But, rainy days or snow,
Just snug and warm inside.

No cook down in the kitchen
To fill my days with care;
No upstairs maid a-piepin'
My garments everywhere;
No butter proud and haughty
To overlook my need,
And lead to language naughty
Because of his misdeeds.

And when the air is jaded,
No summer-hotel fad,
But just a nook that's shaded
Beneath some lily pad;
And when the summer's sated
And winter has begun,
No dwelling relocated,
Beneath the glowing sun.

No butcher boy or grocer;
No baker man with pies;
No watered milkman, no, sir,
But just a dish of flies,
Who serve themselves up freely
In rich variety—
I envy him! Yes, really—
The turtle's life for me!

that would belong to the city, and the committee suggested that the city hold its claim to the piece of land, and that the city make the conveyance for a three-rod street. On motion of Alderman Even, the report was accepted and a resolution was adopted authorizing the street committee to carry out the work. The request of E. Prevost to move his barn to the rear of his lot on Filliston street was referred to the street committee with power to act. The Consolidated Lighting company requested permission to set two poles on Harrison avenue, and the matter was referred to the street committee, with power to act. William H. Murray and Mrs. Mary David applied for licenses to run lunch rooms and the Mastott estate for an ice cream parlor license. Referred to the license committee to investigate and report.

No City Bed at Hospital.

The committee on charity, to whom had been referred the mayor's resolution that the city purchase a bed in the City hospital, reported that the terms for a bed in the hospital for a year would be $520. The mayor and some of the aldermen thought that as that was the regular price for a bed in the wards at any time, it would not be any saving for the city to hire a bed for a year in advance. The mayor said that when he offered the resolution he thought it might be possible to get a bed at a reduced rate.

Alderman Even of the charity committee said that the committee, in recommending that the city purchase the bed, thought the city would then be contributing something every year for the hospital. On motion of Alderman Hoyt, the report of the committee was accepted and placed on file, the recommendation of the committee not to be carried out.

The board of health and the chairman of the health committee, to whom had been referred the question of the sanitary conditions in J. R. Tierney's laundry, reported that with proper care being taken to keep the place clean there was no danger to the public health. The board recommended that a portion of the floor where the water runs be laid in cement, so that it could be easily kept clean. On motion of Alderman Willey, the report was accepted and the recommendations or order carried out.

The clerk announced that he had received 27 bids for the janitorship of the city building, and on motion of Alderman Willey the council went into executive session to consider the bids. After the executive session, the council voted to leave the matter of deciding on a janitor to the property committee.

FOSS ON ALDRIDGE

Says Victory Was Due to Payne-Aldrich Tariff.

Boston, April 20.—Congressman Eugene N. Foss, who was one of the principal speakers at the rally for James S. Havens in Rochester, N. Y., Friday night, had the following to say of Havens' election last night:

"It was the Payne-Aldrich bill that defeated Aldridge. While there were other contributing causes, I will admit, the issue there was mainly an honest revision of the tariff and Canadian reciprocity. The pledge made by the Republicans that they would make an honest revision of the tariff is in the people's minds."

"This result means only one thing, and that is that all the chaps who voted for the Payne-Aldrich bill have got to go. Aldridge and Hale have already been taken off, haven't they?" "And there will be a lot more who will be taken off, or will not run, or something else will happen. The old-time leaders have had their innings and the tide is turning strongly against them."

SPIRITUALIST CONVENTION.

Program for Meeting to Be Held in Hardwick June 10-12.

The Vermont State Spiritualist association will hold its next quarterly convention at the opera house in Hardwick, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, June 10, 11, and 12.

The management has secured Dr. Edgar W. Emerson of Manchester, N. H., a very able speaker and message medium, favorably known at the Queen City park meetings and the state conventions. Among well known state speakers, Mrs. Abbie Crosscut, Mrs. Emma Paul, Alonzo Hubbard, Mrs. Sarah A. Willey, and Mrs. Elsie I. Chapman, are invited.

During the convention, test seances will be held by Doctor Emerson, consisting of giving names and minute descriptions of friends passed to spirit life. Good music will be furnished.

The first session will be held Friday at 2 o'clock, consisting of music and conference meeting. At 7:30 o'clock, there will be an address of welcome by the president of the association, music and speeches. An effort will be made to make this session an interesting one. It is much desired that as many as possible be present. Saturday and Sunday there will be addresses by Dr. Edgar W. Emerson and others. A silver collection will be made at the door.

ADVERTISING VERMONT.

Central Vermont Railroad Sends Out Annual Booklet.

The Central Vermont Railway company has just issued its annual number of "Summer Homes in the Green Hills of Vermont and Along the Shores of Lake Champlain." The 1910 edition includes many new half-tone illustrations and the result is a book which cannot fail to turn the eyes and steps of many toward our fair state. Every season for the past twenty years this publication has been issued, its main purpose being to induce tourists to come here and see for themselves what unsurpassed beauties Vermont can present in her mountains, rivers and lakes. Of local interest are views near Middlesex and Waterbury, the New England States Limited, near Montpelier Junction and several views of Montpelier. The cover design, the clover, Vermont's state flower, is entirely new and makes an attractive finish for the handsome half-tone views within.

AMENDMENT TO THE CITY ORDINANCES

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BARRE AS FOLLOWS:—

Section 2 of chapter 1 of the revised ordinances of the city of Barre is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Sec. 2. All enactments for the government of the city shall be termed ordinances; acts of minor importance shall be called resolutions or by-laws, and the enacting clause, which shall be but once recited in each, shall be

BE IT ORDAINED OR RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OR BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF BARRE AS FOLLOWS:

Each ordinance shall be known as a chapter of the city ordinances, and shall bear its appropriate number, and each resolution shall be numbered by the city clerk in the order of its passage by the city council or board of aldermen.

The city council shall meet regularly on the first Monday of each month, and the second and fourth Tuesdays thereafter; except when the first Monday of the month shall be the seventh day of the month, then, in that case, the city council meetings shall be held on the third and fifth Tuesdays thereafter; the board of aldermen shall meet regularly on the second and fourth Tuesdays after the first council meeting in each month; except when Tuesday shall be the first day of the month, then, in that case, the said board of aldermen shall meet on the third and fifth Tuesdays thereafter. All regular meetings of the city council and board of aldermen shall be held at the city council chamber in the city hall at 7 o'clock p. m., unless otherwise ordered by the mayor or the president of the board of aldermen, and personal notice given to each member of the city council or board of aldermen of such change.

The foregoing amendment was presented to the city council March 29, 1910, read once and passed to a second reading. Read a second time at the city council meeting held April 19, 1910, and adopted.

James Mackay, City clerk.
